Introduction

Wild Hog Vineyard is a small family owned and operated winery and vineyard in the hills between Cazadero and Fort Ross on the Sonoma Coast.

Producer Details

Country        USA
Region        North Coast/Sonoma California
Established    1990

More About This Producer

The owners, Daniel and Marion Schoenfeld transformed the rugged mountain property into a beautiful lush garden resplendent with vineyard, orchard, vegetable beds, and flowers. They have been making wine since 1977 and opened the winery in 1990.

Wild Hog Vineyard is located at the headwaters of Wild Hog Creek (from which the winery derives its name) 45 minutes west of the small town of Cazadero. At 1400 feet elevation and 5 miles from the Ocean east of Fort Ross, the vineyard avoids most of the summer fog. The climate of the coastal range, in conjunction with our farming practices, helps to produce intense flavorful grapes.
